7:00am: CONFERENCE REGISTRATION AND WELCOME COFFEE – CONFERENCE FOYER
Supplied by Hennessy Coffee

8.40am: CONFERENCE OPENING – Introduction by MC James Bracey

8.45am: WELCOME ADDRESS - Col Bentley, NSW/ACT State Manager

9:00am: Opening Keynote: Steve Sammartino

Futurist Steve Sammartino is a tour de force in the field of technology. His energy and humour on stage have made him sought-after speaker around the globe. An expert in AI's profound implications for business and society, Steve has been immersed in Computational Intelligence systems from the tender age of 10.

Steve goes beyond theory and brings lessons from his own tech ventures. His latest Macro3D, a groundbreaking AI and robotics company – which 3D prints houses. Since co-founding the company, he has managed to 3D print a house and is now embarking on building the world's first home built entirely by AI.

An accomplished author, Steve has written three best-selling books on the subject of technology and its future. As a testament to his compelling insights, he has given a TED talk and is the host of the popular national Technology and Business TV show on Channel 9, "The Rebound" – now in its 4th Season.

Steve's takes the complex and makes it simple, and human. This sentiment is captured in his viral videos, which boast over 100 million views - his drivable Lego Car being a prime example. As a respected media commentator, his views are widely sought after, making him an authoritative voice in the tech industry. Steve Sammartino doesn't just predict the future of technology, he's literally building it, and his speeches are an unmissable opportunity to get a glimpse into that future.

Nick Kaldas held two of the most senior roles in the New South Wales Police Force executive (Sydney, NSW), serving as Deputy Commissioner for almost a decade, and prior to that, Assistant Commissioner (Counter Terrorism and Special Tactics).

He relieved as Commissioner of Police extensively. His career as a NSW Police Officer spanned almost 35 years, with a focus on major and organised crime investigations, and counter-terrorism, with over a decade in Homicide investigations. NSW Police is the largest in Australasia, and one of the biggest in the English-speaking world, more than 20,000 staff, and a budget of over $3 billion. He also serviced in numerous senior roles within the United Nations system, outlined below.

In 2021, Nick was appointed by the Federal Government to head up the Royal Commission into Defence and Veteran Suicides. Nick is also currently Managing Director of a consulting firm, Kaldas & Associates in Sydney, Australia, providing high level security, investigative, crisis management and governance advice and services internationally.

He was a member of the Australian National Counter Terrorism Committee for 8 years, the peak policy body dealing with Counter Terrorism in Australia. He held Top Secret Clearance, and Charlie and Delta level briefings. He is currently a Senior Fellow with the Australian Strategic Policy Institute (ASPI), in Canberra, one of the largest think-tanks in Australia.

He holds Adjunct Professorships with Western Sydney University (WSU) and Charles Sturt University (CSU) in Australia and has been awarded an Honorary Doctorate by WSU. He currently lectures intermittently on the National Security College of the Australian National University.

He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Police Bank, and a member of the Advisory Board of Multicultural New South Wales, the Government department dealing with all multicultural issues.
